It's a small-busted world for many women. And, thanks to several of their similarly delicately endowed sisters, the A- and AA-cup contingent has been getting more love from the lingerie world lately. In the last few years, several ladies fed up with choosing between training or too-big sizes

Emily Lau of The Little Bra Company amps things up with her bestselling Lucia bra, a lacy, padded push-up style now available in size 28.

the firm belief that small is sexy.
